

SIERRA MADRE NEWS

VOL. VII.

SIERRA MADRE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1912

NO. 6

SIERRA MADRE REMAINS IN PROGRESSIVE COLUMN

Sierra Madre lined up solidly for Progressive candidates and policies at the election on Tuesday. The presidential vote was better than two to one for Roosevelt against Wilson, in spite of the large number of Taft men who had declared their intention of voting the Democratic ticket. The vote of 212 for Roosevelt against 155 for the rest of the field was surprisingly large.

The total number of ballots cast was 330, of which a large proportion were those of women. The abolishment of the party column made easy the casting of a large number of split tickets, and many failed to vote on part of the offices or propositions.

Bell Goes to Congress

Sierra Madre's vote was in accord with the results in the rest of the county and state. Bell was elected to congress from the ninth district by a vote which nearly equalled that of his two opponents combined. Criswell, the Socialist candidate, put up a hard fight and polled a surprisingly large vote. Stephens was returned to congress from the tenth district in which he now resides, which is welcome news to his friends and admirers in the old Seventh district.

N. W. Thompson was returned to the state senate from this district, but only after a hard race on the part of his Democratic and Socialist opponents. The most of the opposition to Thompson was undoubtedly aroused by his antagonism to the adoption of the Torrens system of land titles, a measure which has been receiving the popular approval which it deserves.

Egbert J. Gates of South Pasadena was elected to the assembly from the sixty-ninth district by a vote which just about equalled that of his two opponents combined. The vote was approximately 2,100 for Gates, 1,100 for Young (Dem.), and 1,200 for Brainard (Socialist).

Successful candidates for the superior court were McCormick, Rives, Houser, York and Wellborn, the next lowest being several thousand votes behind in the county.

Amendments and Propositions

Of the constitutional amendments only two appear to have carried in the state at large, that providing for free text books in elementary schools, and that making irrigation district bonds legal security for public money deposited in banks.

The amendments to the code providing for the creation of the office of registrar of voters and that providing for city and county consolidation appear to have been snowed under. That one providing for home rule in taxation appears to have been defeated by a narrow margin.

The initiative proposition to permit race track gambling in certain forms was given such a blow that similar proposals will not likely be put to a vote for a long time to come. Neither will it again be considered good policy to so word the title of an initiative act as to attempt to deceive the voters as to its intent.

The new county charter appears to have received a majority of several thousand votes, although the total vote on it was light as compared with the presidential vote. Considering the fact that the charter was supported by only two of the daily papers, and that support was only lukewarm, and that the News was one of only two or three county papers which supported it, the adoption of the charter may be regarded as remarkable.

SIERRA MADRE RESULTS

Below are given the results of the election in Sierra Madre. The names of the candidates winning in the district in which they ran are printed in black faced type. It will be seen that in every case except president Sierra Madre favored the successful candidate. The vote on the propositions and amendments was also closely in accord with the statewide vote. The county also adopted the charter but by a smaller ratio than that of the Sierra Madre vote.

CAN BE MADE

The first installment includes all taxes on personal property secured by real property and one-half of the tax on the real property and was due the first Monday of October. The second half of the tax on real property becomes due and payable the first Monday in January. The first installment of unpaid taxes becomes delinquent at 6 o'clock p. m. the last Monday in November. The second installment of taxes becomes delinquent at 6 o'clock p. m. the last Monday in April.

Fifteen per cent penalty is added to the first installment, if not paid at 6 o'clock p. m. the last Monday in November. Five per cent penalty is added to all unpaid taxes at 6 o'clock p. m. the last Monday in April. A further charge of 50 cents is made for every lot, piece or parcel of real property, and every separate extension of personal property, if the tax is not paid by about May 29, 1913.

Post office orders, express orders, drafts or checks should be made payable to W. O. Welch, Tax Collector.

All other county purposes	.312
	$1.230

POSTOFFICE HOURS

Postmaster Dickson has extended the hours during which the postoffice lobby is open an hour later in the evening. The lobby is now open till nine o'clock in the evening, which will be an accommodation to patrons coming in on the car reaching Sierra Madre at eight-fifty. With practically all the regular patrons of the office using lock boxes the arrangement will doubtless prove a convenience. Mr. Dickson has indicated that if the movement to provide an all night watchman for the business section succeeds he will arrange to have the lobby open all night, which would be a further accommodation.

Appreciative comments on the handsome appearance of the new postoffice fixtures are still frequently heard. Old residents who have been putting up with the former equipment for many years can hardly believe their eyes, and strangers agree that the outfit is the equal of any they have seen in towns of this size. The new safe has arrived at Santa Anita station and will be in place within a day or two.

SECURES STUDEBAKER AGENCY

Milton Steinberger has had on display at the Sierra Madre Garage this week one of the handsome little Studebaker 20 touring cars. It is the 1912 model, fully equipped, and a type that is becoming increasingly popular. In addition to the Ford agency the Sierra Madre Garage will handle the Studebaker-Flanders line, two of the most popular low priced machines on the market. The housing and repair business of the garage has grown to such an extent that the quarters which were completed late in the summer are already crowded. Milt is hoping soon to have an addition built at the rear for a machine shop, leaving the entire present floor space free for stabling machines.

A COMING PROFESSION

So far as our knowledge goes, the city of Sumter, S. C., is justified in claiming that it has introduced "a new and coming profession" in this country, says the Scientific American. Through the secretary of its Chamber of Commerce, that enterprising community of ten thousand people has announced that applications will be received for the office of city manager of Sumter. From the brief summary of the requirements for this office, we gather that the applicant should be competent to oversee public work, such as paving, lighting, water supply, etc.; that an engineer would be preferred; that he must state what has been his previous experience in municipal work; that he will have complete administrative control of the city, subject to the approval of a board of three elected commissioners; that his work will be purely that of an expert; and that he will be entirely free from political control; finally, although local conditions and tradition will be taken into consideration, local citizenship will not be necessary.

The announcement concludes by designating this as "A splendid chance for the right man to make a record in a new and coming profession; since this is the first time that a permanent character position of this sort has been created in the United States." If the last statement is correct, the Scientific American congratulates the little city on having inaugurated a movement whose beneficial results in the orderly, economical and righteous administration of municipal affairs will make themselves increasingly apparent.

LAMANDA VOTES DRY

WINERY LICENSES VOTED OUT
BY LARGE MAJORITIES ON TUESDAY

By substantial majorities Lamanda Park has voted against winery liquor licenses in that town. In Lamanda precinct No. 1, the vote against the license was 219, while the vote in its favor was 144. In Lamanda precinct No. 2, which takes in the center of the town, the vote against was 218 with 159 for.

By this action the two Lamanda Park wineries will be forbidden to sell any of their products, either in wholesale or retail, within the limits of the precinct in which they are located. Their only outlet for their products will be to ship them to their own wholesale depot, located in some precinct which has voted wet, and from there dispose of them.

The Golden Park winery in Lamanda Park precinct No. 1 and the Sierra Madre Vintage company in Lamanda Park precinct No. 2 are the establishments which will be affected by the vote, as soon as the supervisors take action in accordance therewith by refusing to continue the licenses now in force.

Under the present licenses these wineries are allowed to sell quantities in excess of two gallons. The issue was bitterly fought in Lamanda Park and created more real excitement there than the presidential election.

ELECTION RETURNS RECEIVED

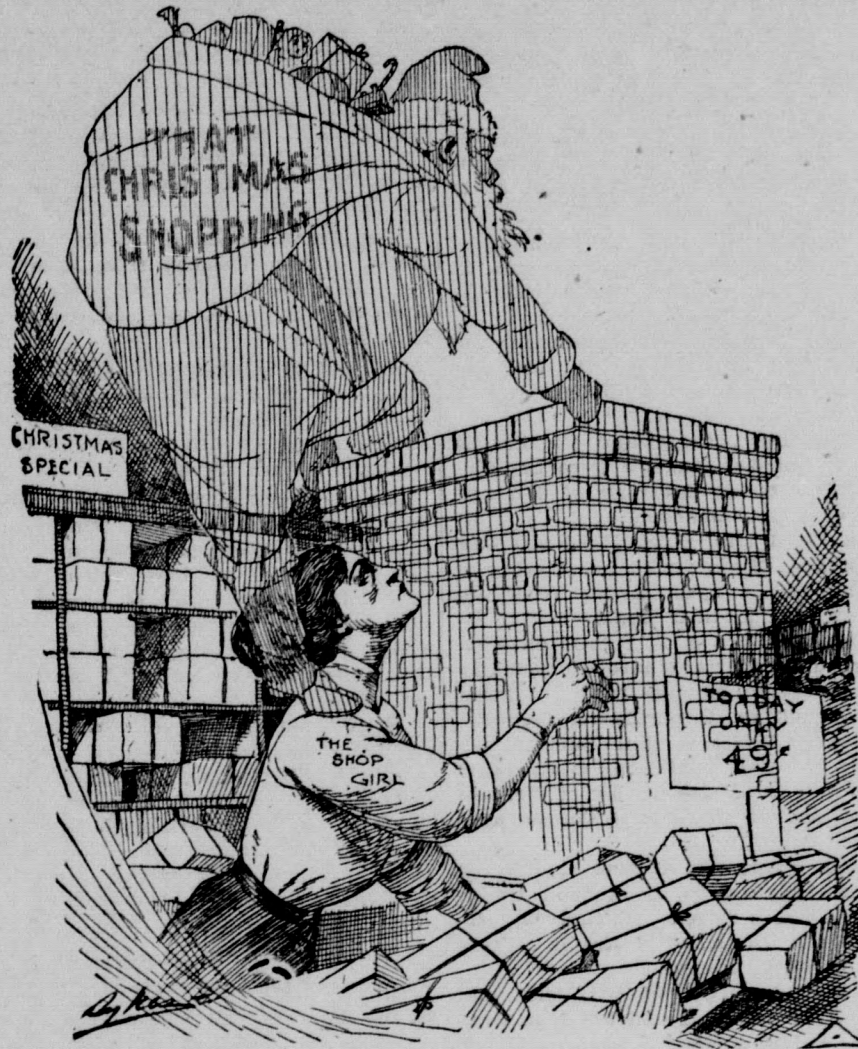

Enjoyable Evening Provided by Ladies
at Club House

Spectators enough to tax the seating capacity of the Woman's Club house gathered to receive election returns Tuesday evening. Bulletins were received by telephone over a direct wire from Los Angeles and were thrown on the screen with the moving picture machine as fast as received. A special program of moving pictures was offered to help pass the evening, and a number of "illustrated songs" with silhouette pictures on the screen caused much amusement. Those taking part in these pantomimes were Misses Isabel Langton, Decker, Ethel Powell, Sherman, Ruth Sparks, Tribble and Caley and Mr. Merton Clark. They were under the direction of Miss Maybelle Caley. Captain Osgood led in the singing of a number of patriotic songs. Appetizing refreshments were served lunch counter style. The election bulletin service was not all that might have been desired, but through no fault of the committee on arrangements. The Los Angeles Bureau sending out the news had sent brief bulletins from the important eastern states early in the evening and failed to send much additional news from those states after the connection was established at the club house. The one-sided nature of the contest, however, prevented any uncertainty as to the result. A noticeable characteristic of the audience was its great enthusiasm for Roosevelt. Long after it had become apparent that the favorite of the majority of the crowd had been defeated every bulletin which was favorable to him brought forth most enthusiastic cheers.

OWENS RIVER WATER PLANS

Sierra Madre property owners are interested in the ratification of the distribution plan for Owens river water submitted to the voters of Los Angeles on Tuesday. The affirmative vote on the plan means that steps will be taken soon toward carrying out the plan. The feature of interest to Sierra Madre is the lateral conduit from the aqueduct portal above San Fernando, following the foothills at an elevation high enough to supply gravity water for the whole foothill district as far east as Glendora. The Sierra Madre city trustees have gone through the formality of filing application for 100 miner's inches of water with the Los Angeles water board so that Sierra Madre can come in for a share of the water if favorable terms can be secured.

LOWER LIGHT RATE GAS COMPANY MOVES

EDISON COMPANY WILL REDUCE
PRICE OF CURRENT ON
FIRST OF YEAR

Beginning January first the domestic rate for electricity will be eight cents per kilowatt hour, according to a recent order of the directors of the Southern California Edison Company. This will be the base rate, applying to practically all domestic consumers. Lower rates will be available for large consumers, but will affect few who do not use current for industrial purposes.

District Manager Neelds of the Edison Company calls attention to the reductions in the price of electricity during the past four years. From twelve and one-half cents the price was reduced to ten, from ten to nine and now from nine to eight cents. All these reductions have been voluntary on the part of the company, applying over the whole system, though there have been occasional local movements for lower rates at various places.

Pasadena municipal officers are appealing to other cities to compel the company to reduce rates elsewhere to the level maintained in Pasadena, which is about five cents. They claim that the company is making an exceptionally low rate there as a war measure against the competition of the municipal plant. They argue that other cities which are paying excessively high rates are thereby aiding the Edison Company in its war against their municipal plant. Every city has power to regulate rates within its borders, but the attempt to lower rates below a level which is acceptable to the corporation usually results in costly litigation. The remedy for unjust rates is to refer the matter to the state railroad commission which now has jurisdiction over public service corporations. The variation of rates charged by the Edison Company in Pasadena from those prevailing in the rest of the company's territory has been called to the attention of the railroad commission, unofficially at least. It seems probable that formal application will be made to have the commission determine what is a fair rate to be charged. But whether such action will result in any material reduction remains to be seen.

SUNNY LIFE AT AN END

MRS. CHARLES H. PERRY CALLED
MANY MOURN LOSS OF CHARM-ING FRIEND AND TALENTED
WOMAN

The soul of Mrs. Charles Hall Perry took its flight last Friday afternoon, after a brave battle extending over several years. For a fortnight she had been reported in a critical condition, but the brave spirit had so often rallied when it seemed the frail body could no longer sustain life that the news of her actual passing came with a shock to her multitude of friends.

Mrs. Perry was born in Chicago and grew to womanhood there. She was married to Mr. Perry in 1897 and their home life was happy to an unusual degree. Two children were born to them, a daughter who would now be fourteen if she had lived, and Hall, aged twelve, who remains to comfort his bereaved father.

With her keen and well stored mind Mrs. Perry occupied a prominent place in the intellectual life of the community as long as her strength permitted. She was widely read and possessed much ability as a critic of music, art and drama, as well as in literary pursuits. Her keen wit made her conversation and writings sparkle. For a number of years in Chicago she was active in woman's club work, giving programs before a large number of clubs and conventions. She possessed great talent as a dramatic reader and the versatility of her work called forth great admiration. She became a favorite among the leading club women of Chicago.

But with all her ability, it was the indomitable courage and sunny sympathetic spirit which won her a lasting place in the hearts of her entire circle of acquaintances. Regardless of her physical condition she never permitted things to become dull where she was. Her capacity for getting enjoyment out of life under the most adverse conditions of health was only equalled by her ability to afford enjoyment to others.

Six years almost to a day from her arrival in Sierra Madre came the final summons. It is safe to say that no health seeker ever won the love and friendship of a larger number of people than did she in that period. The sympathy of the entire community has gone out to Mr. Perry and Hall and to Miss Grace Durland, Mrs. Perry's cousin who had resided with them the past two years.

Simple funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the residence on Adams street. They were conducted by the Rev. Dr. George H. Cornell of the Church of the Ascension. The remains were cremated and will be taken to Mr. Perry's old home in Michigan for interment.

GENERAL LEA PASSES AWAY

Unique Military Career Was a Source of Wonder

Miss Hersa Lea is mourning the death of her brother, General Homer Lea, who passed away last week at Santa Monica, where he had resided for several months since returning from his last trip to China. Although he was but thirty-six years of age, General Lea was recognized as one of the most remarkable figures produced on the Pacific Coast. He was a native of Denver, but his boyhood was spent in Los Angeles, where he received his schooling up to the time he entered Stanford University. Although handicapped by physical disabilities which would have seemed to render a military ambition futile, he became not only the chief military adviser of the leaders in the movement for a new China, but was called into counsel by leading military strategists of Europe. The awakening of the Orient had an early fascination for him, and he probably had a larger part than any other white man in the movement which culminated in the formation of the new Chinese Republic. He was for a long time before his death in the confidence of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and his associates. It was while in active service in China during the recent uprising that he suffered the paralytic stroke which finally resulted in his death. He wrote several books on military strategy which commanded world-wide attention. The best known was "The Valor of Ignorance," in which he showed the defenceless condition of the American Pacific Coast against the Japanese invasion which he believed to be inevitable.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Because of the inadequate attendance at the Tuesday evening moving picture shows the committee has decided to discontinue them until further notice, holding the exhibitions only on Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Prof. Hector Allott gave the first regular lecture of his series on art at the club house on Monday forenoon. He traced the rise of architecture from the day of the cave man to the present time, finding abundant material on which to base his pleas for simplicity in home building and furnishing.

The art committee is disappointed that more people do not avail themselves of this rare opportunity to hear Prof. Allott. He is without doubt an authority on this subject. His talks contain a vast amount of practical information, applicable in everyday life. The committee would be pleased to have the parlors filled at the next lecture which will be given Monday, November 18, at 10:15 a. m. The subject will be the discovery of metal and early Egyptian architecture.

In connection with the sectional work the club has the opportunity of hearing Mr. Harry Girard in a number of lecture recitals. These will of necessity be subscription affairs. Detailed announcements will be made later.

Next Monday, November 11, Mrs. Goldsmith will give "Three Voices." This well known artist is at her best in these reviews and an enjoyable program is in store for those who attend.

CHRISTMASY TRIFLES.

Make Somebody Happy by Giving Her a Reticule.

Every Christmas needleworker this year is making a reticule for somebody. There is a craze at present for these graceful bags, and styles range from simple affairs of linen for use with next summer's frocks to the most elaborate bags of satin and gold lace, to be carried with opera and theater costumes. Such a bag, if it is to be successful must be fashioned with the very best of materials, and a really handsome bag of this sort may easily cost $4 or $5 for the materials alone, though the finished models in the shops, especially the imported models, are tremendously expensive. The handsomest reticules are made of heavy, soft satin, veiled with gold lace or metallic net and ornamented with the tiny ribbon flowers which may be bought all ready to apply. Simpler bags of satin, embroidered with silk or chenille and braided with gold or silver cord, are very effective also, and most dainty theater bags may be made of Dresden ribbon, lined with soft, heavy satin in a delicate pastel tint. The large reticule is always perfectly flat in shape and is usually in envelope style, with one side buttoning over the other at the top. A thin strip of whalebone should be inserted inside the lining across the top of such a reticule.

Quaint Effects In Pincushions.

A charmingly quaint little pincushion and one that can easily be made by the girl who can handle a needle, is the Brownie cushion. Hunt up one of your long neglected friends, the ping pong ball, and with watercolors paint a weird looking face upon it. Then take a piece of sateen the color you wish to dress Brownie in and cut it five inches long by three inches wide. Sew this tightly at each end to form ears that stand away from the head and gather the rest up behind to make the little baldheaded cap, then paint in a little fringe of hair to peep out underneath the cap, which will improve the looks of Brownie.

A small, tight body is made out of a ball of raw cotton. This is so covered with sateen to match the cap and sewed down fast in the back. Arms and legs are made by covering wide ribbon wire with pale pink satin ribbon. These are attached to the cotton body before the dress is put on, and they can be bent into any funny posture you wish. It is cunning to have Mr. Brownie look as if he were sitting down in crossleg fashion like a tiny tailor.

In his two hands he holds a bow of narrow ribbon with a long loop attached. This serves to hang the little fellow up with if you wish to have him at the side of your dressing table. No one wants to stick cold steel into this dear little fellow, so at his back you sew fast a long narrow cushion in which you may run all the pins and needles you wish without marring the quaint looks of your little friend.

The doll cushion illustrated is a charming trifle made of ribbon and cream satin touched up with watercolors.

A Utility Square.

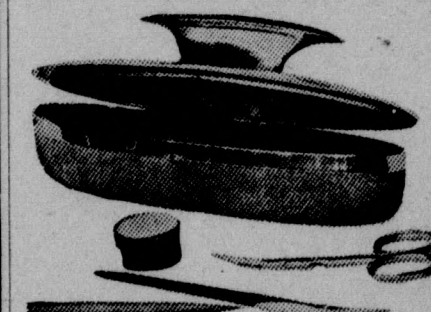

If you have a friend who lives in a boarding house she will appreciate the gift of a utility square.

This is simply a fifty-four inch square of china silk, cretonne, silk-tine, linen or any soft material that will take little room in a suitcase and which is used to throw over a chair on which underclothing has been put to air when it is necessary to open the door to admit a bellboy, maid or any stranger who may knock.

The edges of the square are either finished with a plain hem, hemstitched or fringed. Fringed edges are most graceful. If plain material is chosen a flower or some attractive conventional design is embroidered in each corner.

GIFTS FOR THE KIDDIES.

Baby's Mother Will Be Pleased With These Presents.

The doll is no longer considered a mere plaything and is generally making herself useful these days.

They are decorating workbags, concealing spoils of silk or bolts of ribbon in their full skirts; they are made into tea cozies, to place over teapots that they may retain their heat.

The good natured Billikens are used for place cushions, and, although they suffer from the pin pricks, their smiles grow all the broader.

Some of the novelty shops are displaying dainty dolls attired in quaint costumes of 1840.

These dolls attend milady when she dresses. The soft puff of the poke opening and closing with a drawstring of ribbon.

The parasol, also pink, should be plaited silk attached to a crooked handle of wire wound with ribbon.

A large muff may be substituted for the parasol if desired.

This fascinating little maid is a delightful addition to the dresser and at the same time performs a mission in life. The attractive little cushion seen in the illustration is designed for use beside the baby's dressing table or basket. To make the cushion two bisque dolls about five inches long are necessary. The arms are removed from the dolls and the bodies stuffed around with cotton wadding, then attired in suits of pale blue satin.

About the necks are collars of lace, and pretty blue satin caps adorn the curly blond heads. Pins are stuck into the cushions in an artistic design, and when loops of ribbon are applied at the back of each doll to act as a support the attractive trifle is ready to be packed in the Christmas box.

Gift For a Child.

A cute little Christmas gift for a child may be made from a small square of bright silk—some such tiny piece of silk as almost any mother will find among her ribbons.

Fill this with new pennies. The size of the bag, of course, depends on the number of pennies one wishes to give.

The child's name may also be written on the bag with pencil and embroidered in a color contrasting with the silk of the bag, though it will give just as much pleasure without this addition.

DOLL FINISHING.

bonnet holds plus of all colors and sizes, her reticule contains rings and brooches, and her parasol holds hat plus.

Sometimes the small daughter's favorite doll meets with an accident which leaves nothing intact but the head. Make one of these attractive dollies in the following manner:

Cut a cone shaped framework of buckram or cardboard. This is formed of a semicircle, with an opening in which to fit the doll's head.

Make a paper pattern first, so that the size may be exact. Fasten the sides together and sew the doll into her stiff skirt.

Sew leaden weights at the bottom of the frame, so that she may stand firmly.

To attractively dress dolly, use scraps of silk, ribbon, lace or figured dimity.

One lovely doll wore a frock of cream silk dotted with pink roses.

The skirt should be very full and the bodice short waisted. Over this make a tiny kerchief of white mull.

The bonnet should be pink silk and the reticule of the same material,

PRACTICAL PRESENTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Old Fashioned Cross Stitch Used For Making Charming Gifts.

The recent revival of cross stitch for needlework goes merrily on, and not the least attractive and useful means of employing this old fashioned stitch is in the manufacture of guest towels for Christmas presents. The illustration shows a very dainty model with quaint basket design carried out in dull blues, tans and pink. A fancy work bag in creamy linen with little flowers of cross stitch across the lower end of it for a border and the owner's initials in cross stitch above would be an appreciative gift for the housewife.

GUEST TOWEL IN CROSS STITCH.

Not a White Elephant Gift.

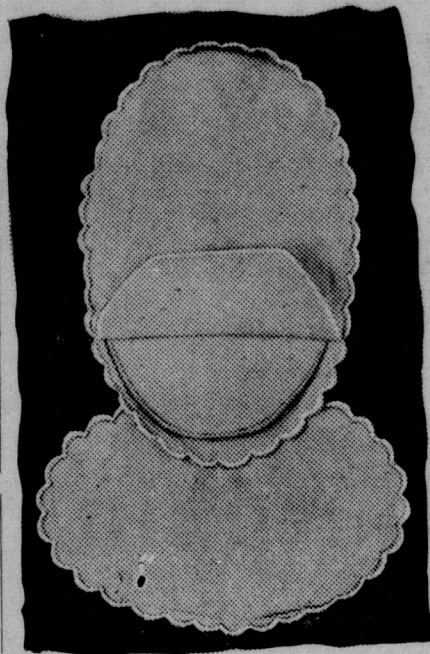

One of the most useful presents for a busy woman is a simple mending bag. A more elaborate present may become a "white elephant," where an everyday necessity of this kind will prove its worth repeatedly. A useful gift for a busy mistress of a household is that of a cretonne pocket, suspended from a folding wooden frame, after the manner of a camp stool. The frame can always be procured easily and only requires sufficient cretonne of a dainty pattern to form the nucleus of an eminently serviceable sewing kit. When not in use it can be folded up and placed in a corner, while it has a distinct advantage over the ordinary sewing bag, in that when the frame is extended the whole of the contents are visible at once.

The cretonne should be gauged on to the frame, with a heading of about an inch extending above the rods, while inner pockets for the sewing addenda can be added to suit individual taste. The round or square wooden boxes in which crystallized fruits are bought can be transformed into things of beauty, with the help of a yard or so of cretonne. Very fine cretonne should be used, and this should be pasted on the box.

An Extremely Useful Offering.

The housewife who is careful of her handsome mahogany dining table will be charmed to receive on Christmas morning a set of linen table mats. The number is only limited by the donor's generosity, but as a rule the set consists of a large mat for the meat platter and four of the protectors for use under vegetable dishes.

To make these mats two pieces of heavy white linen are required for each pad, which is buttonholed together except at one end, where an opening is left in which to slip asbestos mats cut a trifle smaller than the outer linen covering. The difference in size of the linen and the asbestos mats is employed to form a border, which in turn is outlined with a row of machine stitching.

These mats may be of colored linen, but white is a safer choice unless one knows the color scheme most affected by the person to whom the present is to be given.

Pretty Gift For Invalids.

When planning the holiday gifts do not forget the invalid.

Make a bag of dainty flowered silk or cretonne, running inch wide satin ribbon in the top for a draw string and lining it with delicately scented silk.

Have the drawstring very long so it can be hung on the bedpost in easy reach of the invalid's hand without the necessity of her raising herself in bed.

In the bag is a small paper pad, pencil, handkerchief and anything she may need that otherwise would have to be handed to her by an attendant.

Novelties For the Dressing Table.

A charming gift can be easily made from a picture frame. Buy a frame any size you choose, but instead of inserting a picture put in a piece of bright chintz or cretonne. Then buy two small brass handles and attach one to each end of the frame. When this is finished tack a piece of fine felt across the back. This makes a pretty tray as any one could wish.

Look on These Two Pictures

There are two classes of people in the world—the do-it-nows and the put-it-offs.

Let us take a woman from each class—Mrs. Hummer and Mrs. E. Z. Goings. Mrs. Hummer does her Christmas shopping weeks in advance. She has leisure to pick out exactly what she wants. The clerks recognize her effort to make it easier for them and are especially obliging. There are only the usual crowds in the stores. Having made her purchases, Mrs. Hummer can send them off, mailing the ones going a distance in plenty of time and sending the others so that they will reach their destinations at the psychological moment. If there is any thing she has forgotten there is time to remedy the defect. She is at peace with her conscience and the world and has no nightmare of Christmas shopping toward which to look forward.

Mrs. E. Z. Goings, on the other hand, leaves her shopping to the last minute. She comes out of the crush more dead than alive, with her dress mussed and torn, her hat askew, her temper sadly ruffled and with few of the things she wanted. Half of her presents are late, and her friends are peeved accordingly. Her Christmas is spoiled, and all because she belonged to the put-it-off class.

Madam, which of these two women would you rather be? Sir, which would you prefer for a wife?

Look on these two pictures and then shop right away

Dainty Wicker Washstand.

Very convenient for the baby's mother to own will be the stork basket, which is a graceful tall handled affair fitted with requisites for baby's toilet.

BABY'S WASHSTAND.

The dainty wicker washstand illustrated is a novelty that is finding much favor for Christmas presents. This stand is fitted with decorated china and embroidered linen towels and is just the right height for mother's convenience as she gives baby its morning bath.

What the College Man Will Like.

Sofa pillows are gifts that always touch the heart of the college man, but these same cushions must be of the right kind to make a hit with his majesty. The ideal pillow, if intended to take any wear at all should be filled with feathers, not with cotton waste. Somebody may have to spend the night sleeping on that pillow. It should be of material that will neither fray nor fade. Soft velvet, leather and a heavy silk in plain colors are ideal. If it bears any embroidery let it be well toward the edges or in the corners. Use no tinsel—tinsel scratches. If cords are used it must be seen that they are sewed—nay, riveted on—in the strongest possible fashion. Thereafter will the giver be in receipt of many blessings.

A Musical Suggestion.

Steins are not new suggestions for Christmas gifts, but a musical tankard that plays the good old convivial tune of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow"

MUSICAL STEIN.

when liquid is poured into its capacious depths is a novelty brought out for the first time this year for the mere man's Christmas present. The stein illustrated is a musical affair of gray green pottery mounted in silver.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR HIS HIGHNESS

Presents the Mere Man Will Find Attractive and Useful.

The man who travels will appreciate a handmade set for his satchel, including a shaving pad, tie holder, collar bag and a handkerchief case. Make them of linen art crash with an original design stenciled on the covers.

For the shaving pad cut two pieces of cardboard 4 by 7 inches, make two round holes in one side of each one-half inch from the edge. Cover the cards with the linen and on one side of each apply the stencil design. Another cardboard seven inches long and one inch wide is covered with linen. This is placed lengthwise of the edge of the two larger pieces and the edges whipped over and over with strong linen thread.

Now you have the covering for the thin sheets of paper. White tissue or manila paper is cut into sheets to fit inside the covering. Round holes are made in them corresponding to those in the covers and narrow ribbon is run through each hole, brought over the back and tied in a flat bow.

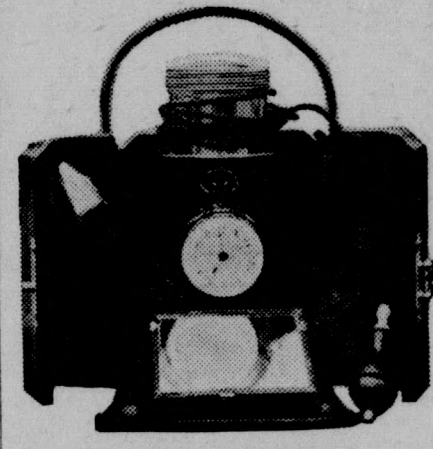

The tie holder is made much in the same way as the shaving case. Two pieces of cardboard are cut fourteen inches long and six inches wide, covered with linen stenciled and joined at one edge, so it will open like a book. The ties are folded and laid flat inside the cover.

Make the handkerchief case of linen folded like an envelope. When finished it is six inches square. The linen is padded with a layer of cotton wadding and lined with pink or blue china silk. It is put together perfectly flat, caught together with embroidery silk after it is folded over, and the flap is held in place with a small glove clasp.

The set or any one of the articles would make an appropriate holiday gift, would cost little and will be very easily made.

The Luminous Clock.

When in doubt about purchasing a really useful Christmas gift for a man why not consider one of the new luminous clocks that are on the market this year?

LUMINOUS CLOCK.

The clock pictured is of this description and makes a most coveted possession.

Six Rules to Observe to Prevent Disastrous Fires in the Mountains

RULES TO PREVENT MOUNTAIN FIRES

Precautions of the simplest kind would eliminate most of the loss resulting from forest fires, as shown by reports on the causes of the fires in the reserves last season.

Much could be accomplished by observance of the following six simple rules:

1. Be sure your match is out before you throw it away.
2. Knock out your pipe ashes or throw away your cigar or cigarette stump where there is nothing to catch fire.
3. Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary. Never leave it even for a short time without putting it OUT with water or dirt.
4. Don't build a camp fire against a tree or a log. Build a small one where you can scrape away the needles, leaves or grass from all sides of it.
5. If you discover a fire, put it out if possible; if you can't put it out, get word to the nearest U. S. forest ranger or state fire warden just as quickly as you possibly can.

SAN GABRIEL VALLEY TRUNK LINE SEWER

The Trunkline Outfall Commission has in hand the project of constructing a sewer that will connect with all the cities of the San Gabriel valley, included in the San Gabriel Valley Inter-City Commission, and will have its outlet at the ocean, and will cost approximately $2,500,000.

This organization at present comprises representatives appointed by the governing bodies on the boards of trade of the different cities affected, in the proportion of two to each community; is an unincorporated body supported by contributions that aggregate $500 a month, which are regulated on a basis of population and area. The representatives in most cases are members of boards of trustees or governing bodies of the cities concerned, except in the case of the incorporated communities where members of the board of trade or citizens' association have been appointed to serve.

Special Legislation Needed

The prime work of this organization is to secure the necessary data as to the route, size and cost of the sewer, and also to stand together in the support of legislation before the coming state assembly, which will enable the territory affected to join together and issue bonds or other securities conjointly for the construction of the sewer.

Purely advisory in its character, this commission will carry on a campaign of education among the residents of the San Gabriel valley, so as to show beyond doubt that the construction of this sewer will not only protect the underground drinking water supply from contamination and provide for the raising of the sanitary standard of the territory to a degree which in no other way could be done, but also to prove beyond question that the construction of this sewer will result in a great property value uplift. The territory concerned has an assessed valuation of over $250,000, and it is believed that within ten years hardly an acre will be without a house, and this condition will be accentuated by the opening of the Panama canal, followed by the rapid cutting up of large tracts of land into country homesites.

Beach Cities Will Be Protected

In other words, this commission is commencing the preliminary work on a sewer that is an inevitable necessity, and by having the entire territory cooperate in its construction there will be but one outlet to the sea, thereby reducing to a minimum the chances for contamination at the shore line and protecting the beach towns.

Making It Pay?

Naturally the foothill and valley sections of the San Gabriel valley realize the obligation that they owe to the towns along the seacoast in not sending down to them anything that would prove to be a menace to their growth or drawback to living conditions, and every effort will be expended by the engineering department of the commission to reduce to a science the treatment of the sewerage. So confident are the engineers of their ability to remove all odor and practically all bacteria and all heavy substances that they have stated that the sewage water, when emptied into the sea, will scarcely be distinguished from ordinary stream water.

An important economic feature in the construction of this sewer is the plan being evolved whereby practically every drop of the water will be used for irrigation purposes, giving to many tracts now dry a supply that will not only greatly increase the yield of the lands affected, but also add in the same proportion to their market value. It is expected that fully 1000 inches of water will be provided in this way for irrigation purposes, and at the current rate of water—$1000 an inch—this would represent fully $1,000,000. And as the population increases along the line of the sewer, this volume of water will necessarily increase until finally it is believed that it will represent in value a sum equal to the cost of the construction of the sewer. Certainly the income derived from the start will go a long way toward paying the interest on the bonded indebtedness.

Another economic feature in connection with this sewer problem is the proposed plan whereby legislation for its construction may be arranged so as to include the right for co-operative treatment of garbage by all of the cities affected, and the reduction of the same into fertilizers. At present the reported cost per acre for fertilizer on citrus land is $25 a year, and this amount is constantly increasing. Common manure now commands $5 a load, and enormous quantities of fertilizers are being shipped in from outside points, thus taking large sums of money out of the bank accounts of the ranchers of the valley.

It is believed that an enormous amount of good fertilizers can be produced from the garbage of the different cities and that other by-products, such as vegetable oils for soaps, etc., can be secured in paying quantities.

So heartily have the different cities entered into this great sewer plan, which, when completed, will form one of the largest sewer districts in the world, that there is every assurance now given of success. City Attorney W. J. Carr, of Pasadena, assisted by William Hazlett, of South Pasadena, and Egbert J. Gates, of the same city, are now engaged in preparing a bill for presentation at the coming legislature, and assurances have been received that there will be a unanimous sentiment in favor of this legislation.

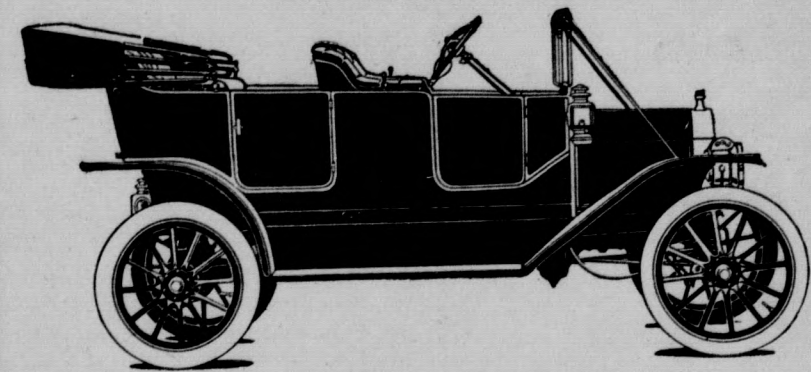

Although the sewage of this district, when not utilized for irrigation, will be ultimately discharged into the ocean, there will be absolutely no nuisance from nor evidence of this discharge. The sewage will be treated as a large purification plant that will be managed by experts. It has been practically demonstrated again and again that sewage can be economically purified. The results at Lawrence, Worcester, Columbus, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and many other smaller cities have demonstrated beyond a doubt that sewage can and must be purified before it is discharged on land or into water. The results in European cities, where every community has some kind of purification works have been excellent.

In a country where water is as valuable as it is in Southern California, there should be no waste of this commodity, and the purified effluent should be sold by the district so that a considerable revenue will be derived. The sewage from one million people would, at 100 gallons per capita per day, amount to a continuous flow of 7500 miners' inches. This would irrigate 50,000 acres, and the income from the sale of this water would amount to interest on at least $1,500,000 at 6 per cent.

THE FIGHT WILL GO ON

Governor Johnson has expressed the feeling of a large majority of the Progressive voters, who, by the way, are about as cheerful a set of losers as were ever seen. In an interview given at Chicago, where he stopped on his way home to California, he said:

"The lasting and permanent victory was won by Progressives Tuesday in the crystallization of a great public sentiment founded upon a moral conception. That immediate success did not come to candidates is no consequence. The big thing has been accomplished. There's a new party in the nation that has come to stay; a new spirit in Americanism that means ultimately real progress; a new life in politics that marks better national existence. Progressives in every state have had this baptism of fire. They are unafraid still, and will preserve their organizations everywhere. A mere battle has been fought; a great war begun.

"The battle has been in reality a substantial victory. Those who then participated I find have strength and courage for the continuance of the conflict. In common with all Americans we wish Mr. Wilson a successful and prosperous administration.

"The Progressive party has now become one of the great national parties with definite fixed policies, in the fulfillment of which it welcomes all; but it is going forward with solemn determination to achieve its purposes."

California may well be glad Governor Johnson is to finish out his term in this state. Busy times are ahead.
The people have reaffirmed their faith in progressive policies and in the state's progressive administration. The state platform was made to be kept.
Governor Johnson is the man to see that its pledges are carried out at Sacramento.

Governor Johnson is coming home to fight to a standstill the reactionaries of all parties in the new legislature.

He is going to put through this session, if his plans are not blocked by a wholesale repudiation of platform pledges by members of the senate and assembly, a series of laws that will exemplify the progressive party doctrine of "the right of every child to an equal start in the race of life."

That is the prediction made today by those most closely in touch with Johnson's plans. The terrific onslaught made by the Democrats against the governor in his home state has only added spirit to his determination. Johnson will act upon the theory that it is up to the progressive leaders to make good in "passing prosperity around,"
and his action is going to lack nothing in decisiveness.

Working class measures will be to the fore in the coming legislative session.
Eight-hour laws will be improved; protection against accident and disease due to industrial conditions will be devised; state insurance of the workers will become an issue. There will be earnest discussion of old-age pensions, while the pledge of pensioning mothers of dependent children is to be kept to the letter. The first steps toward a state guaranty of employment will be taken.

Public ownership measures are going to receive more consideration than heretofore. So will public finance. Governor Johnson is prepared to make good platform pledge in forest conservation and to take any other means of adding to the economic power of the state as against private capitalist interests.

JACK JOHNSON'S EVOLUTION

Insofar as it is possible for an individual to be affected by the public's attitude Jack Johnson is a perfectly natural evolution. Those newspapers which are enumerating the in-fames of which he has been guilty would do well to refrain from condemning the black brute until they have consulted their own files to see how many columns and pages they devoted to his exploitation in the heyday of his career as a pugilistic favorite. Those individuals who are now so shocked over the reports regarding his Chicago den of vice might profitably consider with how much eagerness they devoured those same newspaper reports and how much they contributed to the wave of enthusiasm which made Jack Johnson popular idol
and poured a fortune into his pockets.
No one need be surprised at the result and criticism comes with poor grace from those who had a hand in producing it. Not that Johnson should be immune from punishment for whatever crimes he may have committed.

But a very large number of individuals and newspapers could best devote their criticisms toward themselves for their own part in his evolution.
Commenting on the subject The Argonaut says:

"After all it was the public that made Jack Johnson, that enabled him to become the infamy we now see. A century hence—let us hope—the story will seem to be an incredible one, but we now know it to be true that three years ago this black beast was the hero of the Anglo-Saxon world. He called forth a frenzy of adulation that was never given to a Lincoln of a Washington, that would not now be given to a Shakespeare or a Joan of Arc. For a single hour of his brutalities he received a financial reward probably greater than that of all the poets of the world for the last fifty years. Special trains carried his admirers for thousands of miles to sit at his feet, and the newspapers of the country devoted whole issues to his exploits, and apparently believed that all other events of the day sank into insignificance in comparison with a blow from this monster's fist.

"CRITICAL HYSTERIA"

Glendale News.—Mr. Wm. H. Humphreys of the Los Angeles board of public works has resigned that position. Mr. Humphreys is quoted as saying that he no longer cares to serve the public when every public servant is the object of "critical hysteria." Certainly every public servant, particularly those who serve the public gratis, must sympathize with Mr. Humphrey and acknowledge that his remark is founded upon fact. No matter how earnestly a man in a public office may work for the public welfare, nor how disinterestedly, he is made the mark for this "hysterical criticism" which Mr. Humphrey speaks of, and the fact does not by any means add to the promotion of the public welfare, for it has a tendency to keep out of public life the very men who are best fitted to give honest and efficient service. It is largely as a result of this attitude of the non-discriminating public critic that there are in office a good many time-serving officials who have no fixed principles, but who trim their sails to every imagined passing whim of public favor. But this class of men are not in the majority of those in public place. It is safe to say that the most of our public servants are giving to the people good and honest service, but unjust criticism is sometimes in itself enough to swerve a man of good intent from the straight and narrow path, on the specious plea that "one may as well have the game as the name."
